

ELLENVILLE FAIR IS GRAND SUCCESS

Triple Mystery of Bloodhounds, Bosco and Shrieks of Terror Solved—Midway Fakers in Wild Alarm—Exhibits That are Well Worth Seeing.

VIEW OF MOUNTAINS FROM FAIR GROUNDS.

Strange eerie shrieks of terror heard on the mountains overlooking the fair grounds in Ellenville, the mysterious disappearance of Bosco—he eats 'em alive—from his accustomed place on the Midway, together with the unaccountable behavior of Chief of Police Freer's pack of ferocious bloodhounds, who acted as though they had been out on an all night chase, added a spice of mystery and romance to "Opening Day" on Tuesday at the annual fair of the Ulster County Agricultural Society in Ellenville. The problem kept amateur as well as the professional sleuths guessing until the chance remark of a visitor at the fair that the bloodhounds looked as though they had been chasing some one gave a clue to the solution of the triple mystery.

As this is not a detective story but a simple tale of "Opening Day" at the county fair the reader will not be kept in suspense until the last paragraph. It seems that Bosco, who is an annual visitor to the Midway of the fair, got his dates mixed and reached Ellenville on Monday instead of early Tuesday morning. Bosco's arrival ahead of schedule played havoc with his table supply and there were not enough snakes left for his Tuesday morning breakfast. In this sad predicament, Bosco's attention was called to the fact that there were plenty of ownerless snakes wandering loose on the mountains that overlooked the Midway and he was told that during the hot weather the snakes in that vicinity were in the habit of retreating to the ice caves of Ellenville where they enjoyed a diet of ice which enabled them to ward off summer stroke. Bosco's palate was tickled by the thought of adding "iced snakes" to his table and Monday evening armed with nothing but a burlap bag he hastened forth and was last seen going in the direction of the ice caves.

Unfortunately for Bosco the hour that he set forth on his mission was the one that Chief of Police Freer was in the habit of taking his famous pack of bloodhounds out on the mountains for exercise. Just what really happened from then on is mere guess work but it is presumed that the dogs scented the trail of Bosco and thinking that maybe it was an escaped prisoner they set out to run him down. Born in the wilds of Africa where he was in the habit of out-running the desert lion and the ostrich, Bosco soon was aware that the bloodhounds were on his trail and with a wild shriek of terror he plunged through the underbrush on the mountains pursued closely by the dogs.

Circle and twist as he would, Bosco soon found that it was impossible to shake the dogs from his trail and finally with the despairing hope of throwing the animals off the track he picked up the election boom of County Clerk William C. DeWitt that some ardent Democrat had left lying on the mountain side and placed it across his trail and then with a last look behind, Bosco leaped forward and soon disappeared over the top of the mountain. The bloodhounds when they reached the boom were frankly puzzled at finding it in the path and while they stopped to wonder over the phenomenon, Bosco made good his escape and from last reports is still running.

Bigger and Better Than Ever. As a result of the disappointment at not seeing Bosco on the Midway the visitor at the fair on Tuesday found that the plans of the fair officials of having a bigger and better fair than ever had been carried out. All Tuesday morning the exhibits kept arriving at the grounds and were unloaded.

Not only are the industrial exhibits larger than in former years but the fruit and farm stock exhibits are larger and exceptionally fine, and inger & Sons of New York city exhibiting flashlights, and next to it was the booth with Peeks tea, while the handsome booth of F. A. Buellmann of Ellenville exhibiting jewelry was found.

Down the center of the building was found the flower booth of Burgevin's Sons of this city with an exceptionally fine display of potted plants and flowers. Probably the finest booth was that of the L. B. Van Wagenen Company of this city. This booth was the largest in the hall and attracted considerable attention from the visitors at the fair. The booth was handsomely decorated by H. H. Holbrook and was in charge of J. A. Purcell. An instructive exhibit in the booth was the transformation of silk stockings from the raw product. First were shown silk cocoons and then the various processes through which the product passed until it became finished silk. The ready to wear clothing exhibited were of the latest models and all day the ladies flocked to the booth admiring and examining the latest styles.

J. A. Brown of Ellenville had a fine display of pianos and James Hyatt of Ellenville exhibited jewelry and talking machines. The booth devoted to the work of the pupils of the public schools was exceptionally fine this year and gave a slight idea of the work accomplished by the scholars. The exhibit of hand painted china and canned goods was also fine while the home made cake and pie made one feel hungry.

E. E. Hecht representing the Grolier Society, who issue the Book of Knowledge, also had a booth at the fair. John Cushman of Napanoch had a booth devoted to the exhibit of pianos.

Jesse Relyea of West O'Reilly street was in charge of the booth where Tryphosa was exhibited and he was assisted by his wife in displaying the goods.

The Vegetable and Fruit Exhibit. Adjoining the industrial building are the two large tents devoted to the exhibit of vegetables and fruit. Despite the unfavorable weather conditions of the past season the exhibit this year is exceptionally good. Pears, apples, grapes and garden truck were exhibited in profusion and gave a slight idea of the resources of Ulster county.

The Chicken Exhibit. As usual the exhibit of chickens and ducks was large and there was a number of fine specimens of the various breeds exhibited. There was also a number of varieties of guinea pigs and rabbits. To add to the attractiveness of the exhibit several of the rabbits had a litter of young.

The entire day was given to the judging of the fowls and vegetables and fruit by the judges and they had difficulty in awarding the prizes.

The Cattle Exhibit. The exhibit of high bred cattle this year is large and well selected. A number of fine oxen as well as cows and bulls of the various breeds were shown. The sheep pen this year was filled and an exceptionally fine exhibit was that of swine from the Ridgely Manor Farm of Stone Ridge.

Cholly Welcomes Visitors. Cholly Knickerbocker, the prize hog from the Ridgely Manor Farm, attracted considerable attention from visitors and seemed pleased to welcome callers. Cholly is three years old but weighs between 700 and 800 pounds and is a pure bred Chester White swine. He is the champion pig on the grounds this year.

The County Agent's Booth. This year through the generosity of the fair officials, Miss Gertrude Bruyn, the county agent for the Ulster County Branch of the State Charity Aid Association has been given space on the Midway where a booth has been erected. The exhibit shows the work being done in Ulster county and is in personal charge of Miss Bruyn. The exhibit was visited by many on Tuesday and undoubtedly before the fair ends a large number will have a better idea of the work and the need of it in Ulster county.

The Free Act. The free act this year at the fair is that given by Nervo, who dives from the top of a huge ladder. Starting today Nervo will present his act every day while the fair is going on. He did not dive on Tuesday but the fair officials say that the act is a thriller.

Well Worth Visiting. The county fair this year is well worth a visit from the residents of Ulster county and if the first day may be taken as an indication the attendance this year will be large.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 7

The public schools of the city will open after the summer vacation on Tuesday, September 7, the day after Labor Day, for the fall session. This will also mark the opening of the new high school building for school purposes. The opening of the new high school will raise the question as to what will be done with Kingston Academy in the near future.

On Labor Day afternoon, dedication exercises will be held in the new high school with appropriate exercises. Among the speakers will be Dr. John H. Finley, state commissioner of education and Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck. Muller's orchestra will render a musical program and the public is cordially invited. The exercises will commence at 2:30 o'clock that afternoon. The building will be fully equipped by then ready for school purposes the following day.

MAIN EXHIBITION BUILDING, COUNTY FAIR.

FLOOD RECEDING ON GULF COAST

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Port Worth, Tex., Aug. 18.—With a ship blown inland half a mile, property losses totalling more than a million dollars and some lives lost, Galveston today was once again striving to rehabilitate itself from the angry floods from the sea.

Though the telegraph and telephone companies were unable to get word out of Galveston and Houston at a late hour it was believed that the fury of the hurricane that swept over the gulf had spent itself and "The cities of silence" were still intact after braving the wind and water piled upon them in relentless fury.

Wireless advices sent from ships in Galveston harbor to San Antonio are brief and vague.

The fact that people are being taken from the buildings of the main streets in boats to the transport Buford indicates they are in unsafe positions, although placing people aboard the transport must be accompanied by danger. The city is adjudged safe from destruction as long as it is affected only by back-water and winds.

North and Central Texas is experiencing heavy wind and rains. Many store windows were blown out in Waco.

The streets of Galveston are reported filled with rain water, but the level of the sea water was several feet below that of the city last night. Reports of water from the bay running through the streets have given the population a wide section along the coast ample warning and it is believed that most of the people have taken advantage of it.

The greatest damage suffered is that to crops and several farm houses along the coastal plains where the storm is still raging. The United States weather service has given the population a wide section along the coast ample warning and it is believed that most of the people have taken advantage of it.

GERMANS CAPTURE KOVNO BY STORM

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Aug. 18.—(By wireless.)—Kovno, the great Niemen river fortress at the northern end of the second line of Russian defense, has fallen. German troops captured the stronghold by storm last night, it was officially announced today.

Kovno is the first great fortress to be captured by direct assault since the war began. Lomza was taken by storm by the army of Gen. von Falko, but it does not compare in strength and importance with Kovno.

The magnitude of the German victory at Kovno is shown by the fact that the Germans captured more than 400 cannon. It will be some time before the vast quantity of war materials taken at Kovno can be enumerated.

Great stores of provisions, small arms, supplies, guns, and considerable ammunition fell into the hands of the Teutonic forces.

The capture of Kovno is another great triumph for Field Marshal von Hindenburg. The German genius whose Napoleonic talents have been responsible for the smash-up of the Russian defense in Poland.

With Kovno in German hands, the Teutonic troops that took the city are expected to sweep forward against the defenses of Vilna.

The Russian troops left to hold Kovno offered desperate resistance, but the assault of Gen. Litman's forces was irresistible.

The fortress Kovno, together with all the forts and uncountable war material, has been in German hands since last night. More than 400 cannon were taken.

The fortress was stormed and taken by assault in spite of most tenacious resistance by the Russians.

HENRY CRAFT'S SENTENCE COMMUTED

Governor Whitman Tuesday commuted the sentence of Henry Craft, convicted of murder, second degree, in Ulster county in 1910. Craft was sentenced to a minimum term of 20 years or a maximum of life. The sentence is commuted to five years, three months and three days so that Craft may appear before the parole board at its next meeting for action on his case. The commutation is granted on the recommendation of Judge Chester, who presided at the trial and the district attorney of Ulster county, who conducted the case against Craft.

Judge Chester, in a communication to Governor Glynn under the date of June 18, 1914, stated as follows:

"I felt at the time of the trial that this defendant ought not to have been convicted of any crime greater than manslaughter and if that had been the result, under the facts proven, I should not have been inclined to have a sentence that would require an imprisonment to more than five years. I now join with the district attorney who tried the case in requesting you to pardon this defendant."

"I make this request for several reasons. First, because I think upon the evidence he should not have been convicted of the higher crime; second, that since the trial I have learned facts concerning the principal witness against him which, if they had appeared upon the trial, would undoubtedly have caused the jury to disbelieve very much of his testimony; and third, for the reason that the young man, coming from a good family, was 23 years old at the time of his sentence and has, I believe, been sufficiently punished. If he is ever to be given a chance for himself it should come now rather than later."

The district attorney of Ulster county, who prosecuted the case, under date of June 16, 1914, in a letter addressed to Governor Glynn, stated: "I desire to endorse and approve the application in behalf of Henry F. Craft, now confined at Clinton prison at Dannemora, for pardon. I prosecuted Craft and convicted him. I believe if he had been adequately defended he would have been convicted of nothing more serious than manslaughter. He has been imprisoned about five years and, in my judgment, has served about the period he should have been sentenced for. He committed the crime at about 22 years of age. It was the act of a wild and headstrong boy and there were some mitigating circumstances. The deceased was an ill-tempered, quarrelsome man and, in my opinion, was somewhat to blame for the occurrence. If this young man is ever to be liberated it should be now, while there is time for him to accomplish something in the world. I have in my possession a petition signed by more than a hundred of the best people of the town in which the tragedy occurred."

Craft was indicted for the murder of Martin Fallon at Milton on May 28, 1909. It was brought out on the trial that Craft had driven a stone boat across a corner of Fallon's lot and he had objected to it on several occasions. Finally obstructions were placed there but thrown down by Craft. On the fatal morning the obstructions were taken down and when Fallon came out to remonstrate Craft shot him through the abdomen, death resulting in a short time. The defendant was tried on May 9, 1910, and convicted of murder in the second degree on May 12, 1910, and sentenced to Dannemora prison. He was represented on the trial by Eldorus Dayton with A. H. Van Buren of counsel. District Attorney Cunningham tried the case for the prosecution.

Music at City Home. Through the courtesy of Superintendent Edmonston the women of the city home were delightfully entertained on Tuesday with a musical program. It included vocal and piano selections and a varied assortment was given. The young people who participated were a number from Jersey City and Brooklyn who are spending the summer at the home of Daniel Herb on Clifton avenue. The evening was one of rare pleasure for the inmates and they were loud in praise of the kindness of the visitors. Those who took part were the Misses Lillian Anderson, Anna Scheinler, Emma Scheinler, Pauline Blach, Wilma Sarbin, Pauline Shipman and Freida Schmitt.

LACK OF SHELLS FOR BRITISH ARMY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 18.—"From all the evidence we could gather there is a lack of shells, especially high explosive shells, at the British front. We were informed that this class of ammunition had been tried in the Egyptian campaign and also in the Boer war and found to be a failure. Consequently its manufacture was neglected."

This is the chief feature of a report compiled by W. Brodie, Organizing District Delegate on the Clyde for the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, who has just returned from France.

Brodie was accompanied by several other workmen, the trip being planned by Sir William Beardmore to allow the representatives of the munition workers to see with their own eyes the dire need of artillery ammunition on the firing line.

Sir William figured that the report of the workmen would spur their fellow munition workers to greater endeavors. After traveling between various points the delegates were led into the trenches within 800 yards of the Germans. Shells were coming rather too close to be comfortable and the delegates were so busy ducking their heads that they scarcely had time to listen to the information that the officers were giving them.

"The day was warm," said Brodie, "any many of the soldiers were swimming in a lake nearby, paying no heed to the slightest need to the bombardment. Far up in the sky a German aeroplane was directing the fire of the German batteries. British and French high angle guns were shelling the Taube but it stuck to its work. Once we saw eight shells burst around the aeroplane and for a time it was completely hidden by smoke."

"On our way back we saw huge craters dug into the ground by explosions of high power German shells. The carcass of a horse was lying in one of these holes with its feet sticking stiffly into the air. "That was the kind of ammunition we are in need of at the front. The lines on which this war is being conducted makes heavy shells absolutely necessary but blame for the lack of it should not be laid to the engineers and machinists and their union."

The report concludes by saying that England must win if the freedom of unionism is to be enjoyed in the future.

CARRANZA ARMY CAPTURES TORREON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 18.—Torreón, Gen. Villa's chief fortified base, was captured Tuesday by Carranza's forces under Gen. Alvaro Obregon, according to official advices received here today by Carranza agents.

The message bringing this news stated that a large column of Carranza troops marched against Torreón after capturing Durango and joined forces with the bulk of Obregon's army, which was encamped within 15 miles of Torreón. The attack on the city was immediately begun and after eight hours' fighting, Villa's garrison fled to Gomez Palacio, a suburb four miles north.

No confirmation of the capture of Torreón can be obtained at Villa headquarters in Juarez but Villa has commandeered all the passenger trains running south from Juarez and is rushing troops toward Torreón.

Villa's garrisons in the cities of Minaca, San Andres and Madera, three important mining and lumber centers in Western Chihuahua have revolted against the northern leader and declared in favor of Carranza. This gives Carranza almost complete control of all territory along the northwestern railway from Juarez to Chihuahua, nearly 500 miles.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New Orleans, Aug. 18.—The United Fruit steamer Marowine, from Belize, B. H., with 62 passengers on board, is now two days overdue and fears were expressed today for her safety. She was directly in the path of the hurricane and although five vessels arrived today after passing along her regular path, all reported that they had seen nothing of her.

NEGROES LYNCHED FOR KILLING MULES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 18.—Three negroes, recently freed on charges of poisoning mules on the McLain plantation were lynched early today near Hopehill. One of the negroes has not been identified but the other two are "Kid" Jackson and Frank Russell. Their bodies after being riddled with bullets were thrown into a ditch.

ZEPPELINS RAID ENGLAND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 18.—Ten persons were killed and 36 injured by bombs dropped in another Zeppelin raid on England last night, the government press bureau announced this afternoon. One of the German airships is reported to have been hit while it was participating in the attack.

The Zeppelins made the eastern counties of England their target, the official announcement says. Two houses and several other buildings, including a church, were damaged.

Amsterdam, Aug. 18.—Zeppelins are reported to have raided the east coast of England again last night. Three airships passed over Vlieland Island early today, proceeding toward the east.

RUSSIAN LINE HEAVILY ATTACKED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Aug. 18.—The second line of defenses of the Russians is tottering beneath the smashing blows of the Austro-German armies.

Dispatches from the front today indicate that the Russians might evacuate the great fortress of Brest Litovsk, leaving behind a strong rear guard, such as was done at Warsaw.

An Austro-Hungarian army of the group under Field Marshal von Mackenson is less than 12 miles from the outer ring of forts defending Brest Litovsk. This army is under the immediate leadership of Field Marshal von Arz, of the Austrian staff.

Russian works defending Novo Georgievsk and Kovno are crashing beneath the fire of the Teutonic artillery. The Germans are reported to be using one of their famous 42 centimetre guns against each fortress.

The Russian forces in front of Bialystok, on the Warsaw-Petrograd railway are falling back before the drive of the forces of Gen. von Falko.

Inspired by their success in reducing part of the fort defending Kovno and the occupation of strong Russian positions, the German forces of Field Marshal von Hindenburg are driving forward in that sector with renewed vigor. It is the intention of Field Marshal von Hindenburg to sweep through Kovno to Vilna and thus separate the Russian armies lying north of the Niemen river and those lying south of that stream.

A continuous stream of Russian prisoners is pouring back into Germany from the eastern front. Practically all of these captives show evidences of hard usage. They declare the Russian officers are frantic with rage at the continued success of the Austro-German forces and that the retreat all along the Polish line has disheartened the Russian military authorities to a point of marked pessimism.

VOTING MACHINES FOUND USELESS

Jefferson County and City of Watertown. With Large Sum Invested in Machines, Find They Cannot Be Used This Year.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Definite announcement that the voting machines owned by the city and in the towns of Jefferson county will be useless this year was made today by Election Commissioner Fred H. Moore. The machines have not been made over to conform to the present election law and it will be impossible to utilize them at the primary or general election for that reason, even if the election board and the aldermen favored their use. The county election commissioners have been against the machines for several years, one reason being that voting through the machines entails additional labor in compiling the returns in the election commissioner's office.

The city of Watertown owns 18 voting machines for which it paid something like $7,500, the final payment having just been made. There are also several towns in the county which own machines but are not using them. No machines have been employed at elections in this city for two years and the machines have not been made to conform to the election laws during that period.

It was stated today at the office of the election board that when an election law has been adopted that shows any indication of standing for a few years an effort may be made to bring the machines to conform to the requirements of the law and they may be put into use again, but their use either in September or November this year will be impossible. Meanwhile the city has a considerable sum tied up in the machines, which under present conditions are useless.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 18, 1915.

It is highly probable, according to despatches from Peking, that President Yuan-Shih-kai of the Chinese Republic will soon proclaim himself Emperor. He has been advised to do so by his official mentor, Professor Goodnow of Johns Hopkins University and by most of the prominent men in China, who are convinced that if Yuan should die there would ensue a period of anarchy caused by disputes regarding the succession. Everybody seems to be convinced that the republic is a failure anyway. As for the people of the country, they are indifferent to forms of government if they can but have peace. As Professor Goodnow says: "Conditions are different in China and America, and it is impossible to transplant a system from one country to another." This is a principle too frequently overlooked. No system of either religion or government can be made to fit all countries. All attempts to reconcile the irreconcilable are bound not only to fail, but to produce misery. President Wilson's muddling policy in Mexico seems to spring from his mistaken notion that popular government can be established in a nation which is not adapted to it. Babies should not be given food adapted to grown men.

The most curious contribution to war comment which we have seen is Miss Jane Addams' reiterated assertion that it is the practice in Europe to prime the soldiers with alcohol and drugs in order to get them ugly and brutal enough to charge the enemy. We suppose that it is that wonderful thing, "woman's intuition," which reaches her this, since all the evidence is the other way. A soldier is no different from any other fighter. It is well known that no drunken pugilist can win a battle, and it is also a fact that on the whole intoxicated men are less quarrelsome than sober ones. It is true that a few individuals are made savage by drink, but the vast majority develop good nature. The operation of our prohibition laws has taught us this much. Dry Memphis has 64 murders per 100,000 population and dry Atlanta has 39, while in wet Philadelphia the rate is only 2, while it is 9 in wet Chicago and 4 in wet Milwaukee. Dry Kansas leads all or nearly all of the States in the percentage of divorces granted for cruelty, which indicates that all the talk about drinking men beating their wives is mythical. We could give columns of figures of similar import. If the European soldiers were filled right up with rum before hand it is probable that the battle would not come off, but that they would put their arms around each other like silly fools and sing drunken songs. It is a pity that as good and respected a woman as Miss Addams should allow herself to become a laughing stock.

Secretary of State Hugo is interested in a comprehensive plan which has been formulated by the highway authorities of some of the adjoining states for marking the prominent touring routes for the benefit of the rapidly growing ranks of motor tourists. Present marking of most routes is antiquated, inadequate and absurd. Ulster county, through the efforts of the Automobile Club of Ulster county, is above the average county of New York State, but there is opportunity for renewed activity. The plan now under consideration by New York and her neighbors is a development of a system already in use by a few local motor clubs. By marking fences, telegraph poles and sign posts along the principal highways with bands of uniform colors, an improvement has been accomplished over the old system. The new system will be ideal for the motorist who is not color blind provided it is complete and uniform. Unmistakable color signals in place of the present inadequate and disregarded "Dangerous Curve" signs should be used not only to designate danger but also the degree of danger, and there should be no false alarms. The highway law might profitably be enforced against fools and road hogs who insist in endangering others by their inattention in taking dangerous curves. Installation of a new system should be accompanied by the removal of signs which mean nothing.

ing. First of all should be removed the "Eight Miles an Hour" signs, which are meaningless and unenforceable except on bridges. All corners should have large guide signs. Many a motorist gets on a wrong road by following directions to take the "first road to the right" or the "second road to the left" because fellow motorists and natives alike are prone to err. The cross roads should have sign boards no matter how obscure they may be. All motorists are not traveling to the nearest town having a big hotel. It is encouraging to notice that since the first of last January common sense is resuming its proper place in official life at Albany.

The editor of a newspaper published in Central Pennsylvania tells of articles that he frequently receives from a certain citizen. They are always pertinent and worthy of publication, but they are punctuated in a most peculiar way. Meeting his correspondent one evening at a friend's house, the editor said: "That was an excellent letter I got from you this morning, and I'm going to print it Saturday. But tell me, what rule do you follow for punctuation?" "Why," said the gentleman, "the same rule that I learned when I was a boy. I put a semicolon every 12 words and two commas between each pair of semicolons."—Youth's Companion.

Time for Weaning.

Robert W. Chambers, the novelist, was talking about a writer of the past. "They call him a genius now," said Mr. Chambers, "yet he produced very, very little. There's an anecdote that tells the reason why. He was arrested one night and the magistrate asked him what his business was. 'The critic,' he answered, haughtily, 'call me a genius, your honor.' 'Indeed,' said the magistrate, 'it's time you were weaned. I prescribe seven days away from the bottle.'"—New York Telegraph.

A California youngster had been permitted to visit a boy friend on a strict condition that he was to leave there at 5 o'clock. He did not arrive home till 7 and his mother was very angry. The youngster insisted, however, that he had obeyed her orders and had not lingered unnecessarily on the way. "Do you expect me to believe," said his mother, "that it took you two hours to walk a quarter of a mile?" She reached for the whip. "Now, sir, will you tell me the truth?" "Yes, mamma," sobbed the boy, "Charlie Wilson gave me a mud truck—and I was afraid—to carry it—so I led it home."—Boston Transcript.

The Patriot.

Sir Thomas Lipton said at a provisioners' banquet in London: "All the blame for high prices is put on us dealers. You'd think the way some people talk, that we dealers were as false in our patriotism as the chap was sending his sugar. 'A chap was sending his sugar the other day with his errand boy's help.' 'The errand boy, lifting a scoopful of sand, asked: 'The usual proportion, sir?' 'No, Joseph, of course not,' the boss replied sternly. 'The usual proportion is in days like these.' Joseph, Joseph, where's your patriotism?' 'Then he sighed and added: 'Only half the usual proportion of sand, Joseph—only half the usual proportion as long as our gallant troops at the front have such need of sand bags.'"—London Times.

Rare Eastern Plant.

One of the rarest plants of the far East is the "changeable rose," whose bloom is white in the shade and red in the sunlight. The rose grows in Japan, Siam and China. In the dark, or in a shaded room, the flower has a pure waxy-white surface. But a wonderful transformation occurs when the bloom is taken from the dark to the sunlight. First, the petals turn to a faded blue, which at once changes to a delicate pink. This hue gradually deepens into a fiery red, so that the rose becomes the color of the reddest peony that ever bloomed.

WARDEMAND INJURES NITRO POWDER CO.

That the large shipments of explosives to the allies and the high prices paid therefor are likely to hamper, if not destroy, the business of some of the American manufacturers of dynamite for blasting in quarries and other commercial purposes was made known Tuesday through a suit brought in the federal district court by the Nitro Powder Company of Kingston, N. Y., which has its factory at Esopus, against the Butterworth-Judson Company, of 60 Wall street, which operates an acid manufacturing plant at Newark, N. J., says the Times.

In the action, which alleges breach of contract besides damages, the Nitro Powder Company asks that the Butterworth-Judson Company be restrained from selling and delivering to other makers of explosives sulphuric and nitric acids and oleum, and that the defendant be required to make prompt deliveries to the plaintiff in accordance with its contract.

The Nitro Powder Company states in the complaint that on March 30, 1912, it contracted with the Butterworth-Judson Company for all kinds of acids used in the making of explosives for commercial purposes. During the years 1913 and 1914, the complaint explains, the Butterworth-Judson Company made prompt deliveries from two to three cars of acid a week, but during last spring there were delays of several days in the making of deliveries by the defendant. Orders of June 18 and June 24, for two cars of mixed acids per week, the Nitro Powder Company states, were not filled, and since then, the Butterworth-Judson Company has refused to forward to the plaintiff company any more acids, in violation of its contract.

The complaint further alleges that during the time the Butterworth-Judson Company has failed to carry out its agreement with the Nitro Powder Company, it has been producing sufficient acids to supply the demands of other customers and has the ability to fill plaintiff's orders, which in the course of the next thirty days are expected to amount to 250 tons of sulphuric acid and several tons of nitric acid.

The Nitro Powder Company also states that $125,000 is invested in its plant for the manufacture of explosives at Esopus, that it employs between twenty-five and forty dynamite makers there and has numerous salesmen. It also explains that it has various contracts to fill and that its business is dependent on its ability to fill orders without delay. Because of the failure of the Butterworth-Judson Company to deliver the acids contracted for, and although it has tried to get a supply from other sources, the plaintiff company states that between June 21 and August 13 it was compelled to shut down its plant for twenty-three days, and by so doing has incurred legal liability for failure to furnish contractors with explosives.

The company further states that it is practically impossible to determine the damages already caused by the failure of the Butterworth-Judson Company to deliver acids, but they are largely in excess of the statutory requirements of $3,000. Upon the filing of the complaint, Judge Julius M. Mayer granted an order directing the Butterworth-Judson Company to appear on Thursday in the United States court annex in the Woolworth building and show cause why a preliminary or provisional injunction should not issue. The order was issued on an affidavit made by Emanuel Metzger, president of the Nitro Powder Company, who said the company had endeavored to obtain from the General Chemical Company and the Frassell Chemical Company, acid required by it and of the kind specified in the Butterworth-Judson Company contract, but regardless of price it has been unable to procure a supply from the two large producers of acids because neither of them would agree to deliver, stating that they were already under contract to deliver all the acid they could reasonably produce.

Because of this fact President Metzger asserted that the Nitro Powder Company had no means of obtaining the acids unless the Butterworth-Judson Company, which during the past year had greatly increased its manufacturing facilities, complied with the terms of its contract. President Metzger explained that the Nitro Powder Company had many contracts with cement and quarry companies, and other contractors which required it to keep them supplied with explosives, and the company would be liable to them if it failed to fulfill its agreement.

KINGSTONIAN Boilers

Has Any One Explained This Coal-Saving Point To You?

"When you want to boil water quickly to poach an egg for breakfast, you don't put the water in a deep, narrow-bottomed kettle. Not a bit of it. You get a big, broad-bottomed pan and put a little water in it and it boils almost while you are cracking the egg."

The Kingstonian Boiler acts just like that broad-bottomed pan does. If you could pull out straight the flues over the fire, you would have just twice as big a flat surface. That's one reason why it heats quicker and with less coal than other boilers. Because it saves coal, we sell it. Because it saves coal, you should buy it. Let's talk it over together.

81 LIVES LOST IN GULF STORM

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 18.—Slowly the news of the havoc wrought by the recent West Indian hurricane was coming out today, the first information being reports of the death of eighty-one persons, sixty-seven of them at Texas City, eight at Morgan's Point and six at La Porte. Martial law has been declared in Texas City. This was found in a copy of yesterday afternoon's Houston Chronicle which reached Temple, Texas, today and gathered from other sources. Houston and Galveston, as well as a score or more of other Texas cities, are still cut off from wire communication, but the Chronicle stated that the property loss in Houston alone up to yesterday afternoon was $1,000,000.

"At least 67 lives were lost at Texas City," says the paper. "This loss of life included 12 U. S. soldiers. The fatalities occurred when several buildings collapsed under the force of the terrific wind. Nine U. S. soldiers were killed when a three story building fell on them and three were drowned."

The Chronicle also says that six lives were lost at La Porte, Texas is 20 miles from Houston.

Texas City is on an island about 25 miles from Houston and the same distance from Galveston.

"The majority of the civilians drowned or killed at Texas City were women and children," and a dispatch reaching Fort Worth this morning from New Orleans said the property loss there alone that martial law has been proclaimed.

Eight men are reported dead near Morgan's Point, Texas, across the bay from Galveston.

J. R. Montgomery, a correspondent who made his way as far as Virginia Point, just opposite Galveston, wired the Houston Chronicle as follows: "I fear the number of dead in Galveston will be large."

"I could not see an elevator on the port side of the city and my opinion is that number of buildings destroyed will run into the thousands. I believe the property loss will be greater than that of 1901."

No direct word has been received here today as to the exact conditions in Galveston and no information regarding the fate of Beaumont, Port Arthur, Sabine, Sabine Pass and many other cities in the long stretch of coast line from Sabine Pass to Matagorda Bay has come out. The last word from Beaumont came on Monday to the effect that the population was leaving as rapidly as possible. This was before the full force of the hurricane hit that section.

Thirty six hours after the mob visited the state prison farm at Milledgeville and there stole away from the guards the man whose case had aroused millions of people to his defense, not one arrest had been made in connection with his death. Furthermore the acting sheriff of Cobb county said that no arrests would be made "because no grand jury could be found that would indict any one for being a party to the kidnapping and lynching."

Gov. Harris announced that he would take such steps as will bring the guilty to justice.

In regard to charges that vigilance at the prison farm was lax thus making it easy for Frank's kidnappers to spirit him away, the governor stated that he had personally instructed the prison authorities to spare no expense to protect Frank. He said that the people are entitled to all the facts in connection with the lynching and that he proposes to see that they get them.

Aside from the investigations started by the prison commission and the sheriff, the coroner announced that he would hold an inquest today.

Mrs. Frank who suffered a collapse when informed of the raid on the prison, recovered sufficiently to take a train for New York. Atlanta itself has resumed the normal. The crowds that collected on the streets after the news of the lynching was flashed about are seen no more.

READY TO DECLARE COTTON CONTRABAND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 18.—Premier Asquith and his ministers met today to draft a proclamation declaring all cotton absolute contraband. When the cabinet met it was understood that the proclamation would soon be issued, but that it would be accompanied by an announcement of measures aimed to prevent American cotton interests suffering severe losses.

The British press is practically unanimous in its demands that cotton be declared contraband, but it is also anxious that the step be taken in such a manner that American sympathy for the allies shall not be lessened. In this connection the Chronicle says today:

"We attach a high value to unofficial America's unmistakable sympathy for us in this war; that sympathy has been a moral asset of inestimable worth to our cause; nothing must be done to estrange it."

Discussing the measures to be taken to protect American interests, the Chronicle says further:

"If the British government can devise any means for preventing injury to cotton growers, whether by a scheme of purchasing cotton supplies that but for the war would have gone to Germany or by other method, its efforts will be keenly appreciated in the U. S."

The Times says that the declaring of cotton contraband is inevitable and at the same time assails the government for not having taken such action before, asserting that it is hard to explain why the cabinet permitted cotton to pass freely into Germany during the first seven and a half months of the war.

The Evening Standard expresses the opinion that the inclusion of cotton among contraband articles will clarify international law.

"It is just because we have taken a year to make up our mind," says the Standard. "American claims for interruption of her export trade are eminently reasonable and no doubt will be met. Our indebtedness to America will be increased and an issue in America of British government bonds will supply marketable security."

The Westminster Gazette says: "When both sides are willing and anxious to tide over the difficulty of American exchange we have no doubt the British treasury will devise means to improve the present situation."

TRIP ON THE ALBANY.

Excursion of the Spring Street German Lutheran Church.

For many years we have used the barge "Empress"—last year we made our excursion which, was very large attended, on the famous steamer "Mary Powell." We have had a most enjoyable and successful outing and were well pleased with the service rendered by Joseph Reynolds and the crew of the steamer. This year we make our annual excursion on the steamer "Albany." This steamer is one of the magnificent group of steamers which compose the fleet of the Hudson River Day Line, and is noted for the unusual grace and beauty of her lines, her speed, safety and comfort.

The service and discipline on the Hudson River Day Line boats is of a character to warrant the admiration of the traveling public. The Hudson river, on which these boats sail, leads through the most picturesque and beautiful section of New York state, and is replete with historical associations and interesting tradition. Washington Irving, who did more than any other to acquaint the world with the beauty of the Hudson, said: "I thank God I was born on the banks of the Hudson." How quickly are the discomforts of city life in the hot summer forgotten when we step aboard a Hudson River Day Line steamer! Delicious cool breezes fan us as the steamer moves out from her pier and courses down the river. To sit out on deck and glimpse the most charming scenery and the clustering cities on both sides of the river is of fascinating interest and a recreation for body and soul.

Our excursion tomorrow is an opportunity to enjoy a day of pleasure and recreation at a small expense and we feel sure our friends will never regret selecting this trip to Bear Mountain Park for a day's outing. We bid them a hearty welcome and endeavor to make our excursion pleasant for every one. We hope for a sunny day.

The steamer will leave on its regular trip to New York at the Powell dock at 7 a. m., arriving at Bear Mountain Park at 10 o'clock. There a stay of five hours will be made, giving the excursionists sufficient time to enjoy the place and its amusements. The excursion will leave the park at 4:15 p. m. and arrive home at 7:30. Excursionists of Port Ewen, South Rondout and Wilbur and Edenville will be transferred to and from the steamer by the Edenville yacht. The round trip is 75 cents. Children under 12 years of age 25 cents. Babies are free. Tickets can be secured from members of the Sunday school and at the dock before leaving. It is advisable to secure the tickets in advance. No one holding a ticket will be turned away. The capacity of the steamer is 3,000. Parents must take care of their children, because we are not responsible for them. Lunches shall not be eaten in the parlors of the steamer. We do not hold ourselves liable for loss or damage of personal property. Please handle the chairs on the steamer carefully. Don't venture anything which puts you in danger. Don't pick flowers at the park. We beg our patrons to assist us in keeping good order and wish to thank all those who assist us in our undertaking. May the Lord grant us a good and enjoyable day.

"LET IT DROP" IS GEORGIA SENTIMENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 18.—Leo M. Frank's last act was to try to write to his wife. That much became known today for a certainty. He made no confession. That also is a certainty. Further than these two essential facts, the story of his actions between the time he was taken from the state prison farm at Milledgeville and hanged to a tree near Marietta are still shrouded in considerable mystery and the doomed "man's" behavior during the last few hours of his life will probably be never known except to those who were in the automobile with him. Whether he was too nervous to write to his wife or whether the mob refused his request is not known. The statement has simply gotten round that "He tried to write to his wife," and there it stops.

Everything was quiet in Atlanta and Marietta today. Not the slightest ripple of excitement existed to show that one of the greatest tragedies in the history of the country was enacted but yesterday. With Frank's body nearing its final resting place in Brooklyn accompanied by Mrs. Frank, his brother-in-law Alex Marcus, Rabbi Marx and other friends this city and Marietta settled down to their customary routine. Spurred on by the determined efforts of Governor Harris the officers of the law are making some attempts to find the members of the lynching party, and no doubt some arrests will be made in the course of time, perhaps today, but that any one will ever be convicted of the lynching is not believed by even the friends of Frank. The sentiment of the people of the state is "Now Frank is out of the way, let the case drop."

MORE MARINES AT CAPE HAITIEN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Cape Haitien, Haiti, Aug. 18.—Five hundred more American marines were landed here today from the United States cruiser Tennessee because of the refusal of Haitian rebels to lay down their arms. The marines were fully equipped for active service and it is expected they will go to the interior.

Armored automobiles are being fitted up for the Americans' use. The Haitians are preparing to resist and are terrorizing the northern section.

MACHINISTS PLAN GENERAL STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 18.—One of the most gigantic strikes that has gripped this country in years will be called soon to force the granting of an eight hour day to machinists, it became known here today. Leaders are now preparing to issue a call that will cause one hundred thousand machinists throughout the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Canadian border to the Gulf, to lay down their tools. As many more workers whose work is affected by the machinists also will walk out.

Three hundred thousand metal workers, forming one of the strongest unions in existence, will finance the strike of the machinists. The metal workers will not walk-out but they will supply funds for the striking machinists to live upon.

The limiting of the machinists' strike to the New England munitions factories has been definitely abandoned, it was learned today upon reliable authority. All of the arms and ammunition factories in the country will be affected as will all other industries where machinists are employed and where the eight hour day is not in vogue.

J. J. Keupler, vice-president of the International Association of Machinists will confer with the executive committee of the association tomorrow afternoon. At this time final plans for the calling of the general strike will be made. District organizers throughout the country have been in close touch with the executive committee, which has been in session here for three days and it is understood that everything is in readiness.

President William Johnston, of the association today announced that the doom of the 12 hour day in the mills in the Pittsburgh district is soon to be sounded. He said the machinists in those mills have organized and are preparing to go out when the general strike is called.

"BLACK BOY" RAGS HELD FOR SLASHING

In less than ten hours after a complaint had been lodged in the sheriff's office against Levi Rags, the man who slashed William White at Goldrick's Landing on Sunday, Sheriff Shultis had his man and an hour later had him in jail.

White was in Kingston Tuesday evening and made his complaint and said that Rags was in town and was hanging around several saloons in Rondout. Sheriff Shultis was attending a private dance at Kingston Point and immediately left. He hunted all through Rondout and out toward Kingston Point, but Rags had escaped. It was found in one saloon that when Rags heard some other men talking about Sergeant Hanley of the Kingston police catching the negro who did the cutting in Rondout Monday evening, he immediately disappeared.

This morning Sheriff Shultis and Jailer Jocelyn were out early in search of their man and went all through the brick yards up to Goldrick's Landing and found their man in Lynch's yard. Rags, who is known as Black Boy, was piling bricks and was identified by White. He had his hands extended over his head when the Sheriff appeared behind him. He was invited by the sheriff to hold them there and in an instant he found a pair of shining bracelets around his wrists.

He was taken before Justice Mooney at East Kingston arraigned on the charge of assault in the second degree and held to await the action of the grand jury, and remanded to jail.

At the jail the statement of White was taken by the district attorney's office. The argument started after Black Boy had induced White to shoot crap with him. White wanted to shoot for a half dollar but Black Boy wanted to make it a dollar, whereupon White made it $1.65. They shot and White won. White left it there and Rags covered it and they shot a second time and White won again. Then White started to take his coin in and Rags refused to let him and slashed him with a knife, the extent of his injuries having been told in The Freeman on Monday evening.

White after receiving his injuries walked to the yacht and came to Kingston to the office of Dr. Christopher Keefe and after being treated returned to Goldrick's Landing where he is employed on Goldrick's brickyard.

Black Boy, is a short stocky negro, hailing from South Carolina. He was forced to change his clothes and when he did he revealed any number of ugly scars which are medals of past performances.

WILSON AWAITS CORDOZA'S REPORT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The next step in the administration's Mexican policy will hinge on the reports made to President Wilson by Senor Cordoza, Brazilian minister to Mexico. He will probably confer with the president next Monday.

Meanwhile up to the present time not a single Carranzista general or civil governor has made a move to accept the invitation, extended by the United States and Latin-America to join in a peace conference.

Carranza seems to dominate the situation and unless the influence now being brought to bear on General Pablo Gonzales and Obregon are successful, the possibility of establishing a provisional government that will have the support of all factions is very remote.

The unrest among the Mexicans themselves was reported today to be increasing, thus endangering the safety of foreigners. Villa has created a veritable reign of terror throughout Chihuahua by the wholesale execution of former intimates, whom he now suspects of disloyalty. He was reported as being too busy gratifying his private grudges to pay any attention to the suggestion made by his agents here that he go to Juarez and issue a lengthy statement enthusiastically endorsing the peace plan. Confidential reports reaching interests here with strong financial connections in Northern Mexico were that Villa's prestige has suffered a severe blow and that Obregon was likely to wipe out the best part of his army in the fighting at Torreón.

The Vera Cruz situation was expected to show improvement with the arrival there of the American battleships. The authorities warned by Carranza at the behest of Consul Silliman, are putting down all anti-foreign demonstrations at their inception, and the food situation in Mexico City is reported as much better.

Along the border the drastic tactics of General Funston are having their effect. Every point where the Rio Grande can be crossed is now well patrolled by American soldiers with instructions that all armed Mexicans are to be prevented crossing. Those who do not heed the initial warning are turned back with bullets, and, according to Funston's latest report the "situation is well in hand."

Tigris Means Swift.

The Tigris appears in the book of Genesis at Hiddkel, one of the four "heads" into which the river of Eden was parted. The name by which we know it does not exactly mean "tiger." For the correct way of putting it is that both "tiger" and "Tigris" mean in Persian swift as an arrow. "Euphrates" is a Greek version of the Persian hufrat, which signifies "the good abounding" and represents the old Asiatic burst or purat, akin to our verb "pour."—London Standard.

Patroness of Music.

The origin of music is lost in antiquity. Among civilized people it is probably to be traced to the ancient Egyptian priests, who employed this art in their religious rites and ceremonies. From the Egyptians the Greeks and the Romans derived their knowledge of music. The ancient Hebrews probably took with them into Palestine some of the songs they had learned in Egypt. The hymns used in the temple formed the basis of the melodies of the early Christian church, and from these hymns was formulated the first authoritative musical system. St. Cecilia is termed the patroness of music.—Exchange.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke).

New York, Aug. 18.—Those fellows who are promoting the McFarland-Gibbons bout are a brave lot. They'll have to take it close to $45,000 before they can begin to realize a profit, and $45,000 in these war-time days, is a large flock of money.

At the prices charged, it means that the attendance will have to reach between 16,000 and 20,000 before the promoters can begin counting profits. And 16,000 to 20,000, is some crowd. The Johnson-Jeffries fight drew only about 25,000 and the Johnson-Willard affair less than half that total. The biggest crowd that ever attended a bout in New York state since no-decision bouts became operative was about 13,000 and that was an entertainment where the admission prices were far less than those which will be charged to see Packey and Mike perform.

"Happy" No Longer Happy

"Happy" Littleton was very happy when he arrived in New York from the Sunny South. Wasn't he middle-weight champion on the S. S. and wasn't he sure of getting enough matches to insure fattening of his bankroll? Sure. But things have changed.

The promoter and scrib in New York gave a look at "Happy" and at once exclaimed that he looked like Jim Corbett and fought like Stanley Ketchell. They kept drumming that into "Happy's" ear for so long that "Happy" has become confused and he's afraid that sometime he'll climb into a ring, get things confused and fight like Jim Corbett and look like Stanley Ketchell.

Ahearn to be a Soldier.

Mrs. Woodward probably didn't raise her boy Jake to be a soldier but he's going to be one just the same—at least he says he is. Mrs. Woodward's son is known in the prize ring as Young Ahearn, the middle-weight fighter.

Ahearn lingered around on these here shores in the hope of landing a few fights. But he's been disappointed. Whereupon he said:

"I'm going to quit the United States, go to England and enlist. I am of a fighting disposition and if I can't get fights in the ring I'll get em on the battlefield. Good-bye, one and all—soon I shall depart."

Gibson Abides for Coffey.

While Gibson, who manages Jim Coffey, the heavyweight, just has been awarded a truck load of medals for originating the best little alibi that's been given out for many moons.

As you will remember, Coffey battled Jim Flynn some months ago, and put up a disappointing exhibition.

"What was the matter with Coffey?" Gibson was asked.

"The matter with him? Ah, yes, to be sure," alibied Gibson.

"Well, you see it was this way. Coffey has been growing during the past year or so. He's not got his full height and you know when a child is growing it weakens him. That's what was wrong with Coffey. He was weak because he was growing."

It cost Eddie McGoorty about $50,000 to meet and be knocked out by Leo Darcy, the Australian. It was the first time that McGoorty ever was sent to the mat for the full count and his defeat has robbed him of much of his drawing power.

McGoorty went to Australia, where he was a big favorite, with the assurance of getting enough matches to net at least $25,000, provided of course, that he didn't lose any of his matches.

McGoorty, through the loss of his first match has ceased to be a drawing card in Australia. Furthermore, the defeat means that McGoorty won't be able to shake down the American promoters for the hucky purses he used to get.

Necessarily Slow Development.

Character is to wear forever; who will wonder or grudge that it cannot be developed in a day?—Henry Drummond.

The Latest Fish Story.

The latest fish story of the season is one that deserves mention and really ought to get the belt. It comes from Charles C. Stahl, the genial barber of Miller's shop on Wall street. Charlie, who has been spending his vacation at Willow fishing on the Willow flats, says that after cleaning his fish one day last week he noticed a little 6 inch trout floating around in the water he was using. He tried to think where it might have come from, being sure that he had not caught any trout under size. It was then that he noticed that some of the entrails which seemed rather full when he removed them were now rather empty and so he concluded that the smaller trout had been swallowed whole by the larger fourteen inch trout. Charlie swears on his honor that this is the truth but so far he has found few to believe his tale.

Day Line Closing.

The last trip of the Day Line will be made to New York on Saturday, October 30, and November 1. On the same date the Albany, which has been running from Rondout to New York in place of the Mary Powell, will close its season. This is the latest the Day Line has run in a number of years. Travel on these boats has been above the average this season, probably due to the fact that there is not so much travel abroad.

Neelytown Grove to Vanish.

J. H. Lucy of Gardiner and Brugn Hasbrouck of New Paltz have purchased the old Neelytown camp meeting grounds and will cut the same into lumber. Thousands of people have attended camp meetings here in the past and the cutting down of the timber will mark the passing of one of the best known sections of Orange county. The Harlow and Slaughter families were the former owners of the tract of land.

SANITARY CHEWING GUM.

Advertising Campaign in Kingston for Sterling Chewing Gum.

A unique advertising campaign has been launched in this city by representatives of the Sterling Gum Company, a corporation with capital of $6,000,000 which has most modern and sanitary factories in Long Island City, Toronto, Canada, and Louisville, Kentucky. These factories are daylight factories, that is every part is flooded with light and absolute neatness and cleanliness is required of every worker. Many innovations, including the elimination of grit from the gum, beside the absolute purity of the product are claimed for it. The hustling advertising men who are in Kingston are placing orders with local business houses and distributing samples of their goods. One of the means used to attract attention is the red-cloaked figure of "Old T. the Baffer" who assists in the distribution and tries to keep the public in ignorance of his identity. Six points of excellence of the gum are given but the seventh is left to the ingenuity of the user. These points are plenty of flavor, velvety body and no grit.

Music in London.

It is interesting to note in a recent issue of the "Musical Times" of London, that during the month of May, but a little earlier than the date of our Music Festival, there was a "Festival of British Music" held at Queen's Hall. "Orchestral Concerts of British Composers" were held in the same place; two fine concerts were given by the London Symphony Orchestra, and still another concert was given by the Queen's Hall Orchestra, together with a number of notable chamber and choral concerts. All of which goes to show that the people of England realize that inspiring music creates in the minds of those who hear it, a sense of poise and balance, that is much to be desired in these times of storm and stress. The same idea is strongly advocated by those interested in music.

Card of Thanks.

Aug. 17, 1915.
We the undersigned wish to thank our friends and neighbors and also the employees of the Charchian Shirt Company for their kindness and sympathy during the sickness and death of our sister and daughter.
HUGH O'NEIL AND FAMILY.

Not Settled Yet.
"Is the head of the house at home?" asked the agent as the mister of the family answered the doorbell. Making no effort to answer the question, the mister person said: "I don't know what line of goods you are introducing or whether they would fit in our establishment or not, that phase of the matter being neither here nor there; but let me tell you something: if you can establish once for all just who is to be recognized as the head of this house, I'll buy a gross of whatever you've got and pay the catalogue price."

Wasted Labor.
Merely mentioning a prominent candidate for the presidency is enough to set him looking over his private score card for the error records—Washington Post.
